In writing this book, I have no intention to defame or disparage anyone. My friend, a drug-addicted lifestyle will only lean you into a suffering life. You know that God didn't create you that way. You fell into addiction out of human weakness; God will assist them with His grace. My friend, you feel I do not need to change something; I am not perfect, now are we are -- but right is right wrong is wrong. It does not give you or me the right to be selfish and hurt others.

My friend, this book will teach you that such a lifestyle is wrong. You may not believe it, but it will be proved by other stories from people before you, and by your own feelings. I know you were influenced and brainwashed by those who wanted to take advantage of you because you had money they wanted and they made you think they cared. But do you know that it is never too late?
